

Why Did Key Witnesses Not Testify at Jeff Dahmer's Trial?

In a real case, they should have been called upon.

There are several key witnesses that did not testify at Jeff Dahmer's "trial":

- Vernell Bass - Vernell Bass was Jeff Dahmer's friend, the neighbor across the street, and regular visitor to Jeff's "apartment of horrors." In fact, Vernell Bass was visiting Jeff's apartment up until right before the "arrest". He says the photos of shirtless men seen on the walls of Jeff Dahmer's apartment weren't there prior to the "arrest".
- The 10-15 people who were at the "Konerak" scene - This includes the firefighters (who were in charge of the "medical situation") and Nicole Childers. In her Shakers interview, Nicole says she didn't testify because the police were making up stories about her being "found dead" with a hypodermic needle in her arm.
- Self-proclaimed "Dahmer survivors" Billy Capshaw and Preston Davis.
- Probation officer Donna Chester - Here's an excerpt from Brian Masters' book where Donna shows growing "concern":

Donna Chester, Jeff Dahmer's probation officer showing growing "concern".

- “Arresting” officers Rauth and Mueller - We have no testimony about their version of events. We only have Tracy Edwards to tell us what happened, and surprisingly, there was no charge for that even though 1) Tracy Edwards testified about his 6-hour “ordeal,” and 2) the confession mentions “attempted homicide.”

Here's the relevant excerpt from Jeff Dahmer's “confession”:

BOOK	TYPE OF PROPERTY	DESCRIPTION	SERIAL #	CODE #	VAL
On Tues., 7-23-91, I, Det. KENNEDY, on Squad 126, along with Det. Michael DUBIS, responded to 924 N. 25th St., #213, to investigate. Upon our arrival, we were met by Squads 31-P.O. RAUTH and MUELLER, who state that at approximately 11:25PM, they were flagged down by an individual who had a handcuff on and stated that a man had threatened him with a knife in Apt. #213 at the apartment building 924 N. 25th St. They state that at this time, they proceeded to that apartment and upon knocking on the door, they were allowed to enter the suspect's dwelling and began to question him. During questioning, they state they observed several polaroid photographs which showed mutilation of human bodies and human heads. They state at this time they placed the individual under arrest for the attempted homicide regarding the individual, Tracy EDWARDS, who flagged them down previously and called for the CIB.

- Counselor Patti Antony - Another key witness for an “insanity trial”. Here's a excerpt from Brian Masters' book:

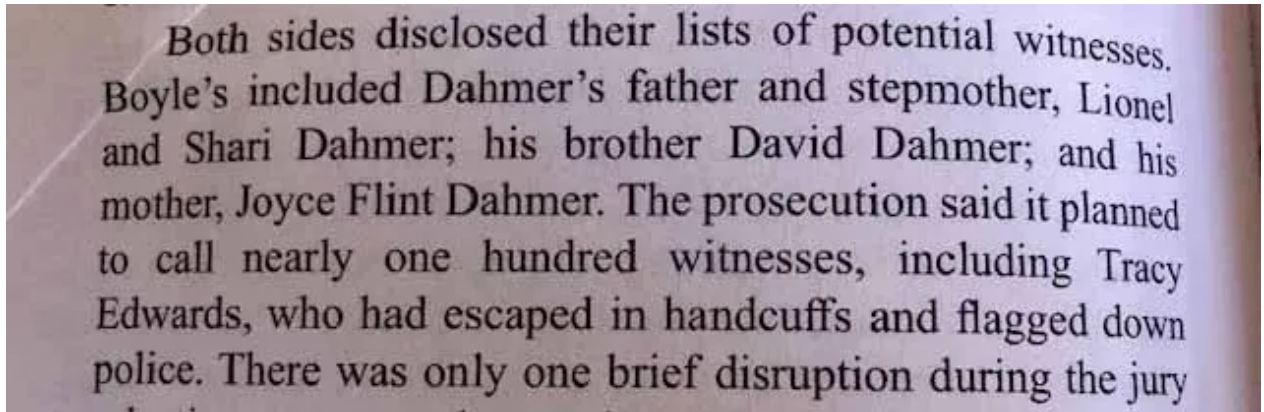

Dahmer was not only attending regular meetings with Donna Chester; he was also required by the terms of his probation to participate in group therapy sessions at DePaul Hospital. It will hardly surprise the reader to learn that he was a recalcitrant patient, entirely unable to respond to the kind of treatment which involves blatant and unselfconscious revelation to a group of people one has never met. His counsellor, Patti Antony, was beside herself with frustration at his lack of involvement. The orientation session was due to take place on 22 May, barely thirty-six hours after he had killed Cash D. He telephoned to delay his initiation by one day. 'He introduced himself to the group and was attentive,' reported Miss Antony. 'He did not share any personal issues.' The next month 'he appeared very uncomfortable in talking about his mother', and in July, 'Patient needs to get in touch with his feelings involving the sexual assault and is resistant in talking about the incident.' Miss Antony would not know that Jeff Dahmer had not been 'in touch' with his feelings for many years.

It was also observed as the months went by that he was less and less concerned about personal hygiene. The man whose neatness had made an impression in 1986 was slipping into lethargy: 'He admits he just doesn't feel the energy to clean himself or his clothes.' A Dr Krembs was asked to make yet another psychological evaluation. Having noticed that Dahmer was 'very isolated, no friends, hobbies, interests, whole life is dull, sterile, monomaniacally directed, which is excellent breeding ground for depression', the doctor diagnosed a 'mixed personality disorder associated with depressed mood'. He was further of the opinion that a 'major relapse is just a matter of time'.

- Jeff Dahmer's family - Lionel Dahmer even wrote a book about his son's "descent into madness". Here's an excerpt from Detective Kennedy's book where it is mentioned that Jeff Dahmer's family would be called as potential witnesses:

Patrick Kennedy says Jeff Dahmer's family would be called as witnesses.

- Steven Toushin - Steve Toushin was the owner of the Bijou, the company where Jeremiah Weinberger worked. In his 2011 article, Steve Toushin claims to have been one of the last people to see Jeremiah Weinberger alive.
- Teddy Jones - Teddy Jones, who also worked for Steve Toushin, was the alleged best friend of Jeremiah Weinberger. He claims to have seen Jeremiah Weinberger with Jeff Dahmer in Carol's bar:

In Chicago, friends of Jeremy Weinberger, 23, worried that he might be among the victims. "Oh God," said a former roommate, Ted Jones, when told what police had found in the apartment on Milwaukee's West Side. Then Jones added, sadly, "Actually, we expected this."

Weinberger, a co-worker with Jones at a Chicago distributor of gay and lesbian adult videos, disappeared July 6. He was last seen, Jones said, in Carol's Speakeasy, a gay bar and dance club in Chicago's Old Town neighborhood.

Weinberger left the bar with a stranger — a white man about 30 years old with blond hair, Jones said.

"Jeremy said he wanted him to drive to Milwaukee with him for the weekend."

Jones said the man — who at least partly matches Dahmer's description — had been talking with Weinberger during the evening. Weinberger then turned to Jones, 38, for advice.

"He came up to me and said, 'Well, should I go with this guy?'" Jones said. "I said, 'Well, let me see what he looks like.' And then when I met the guy he seemed, like, all right, but who's to say what a killer looks like?"

Despite the fact that neither Steve Toushin nor Teddy Jones testified at the trial, both seemed very willing to talk to the press. Here's what Toushin says in his 2011 article:

I made a decision when the reporter was in the office that the Chicago Gay Press should have the exclusive interview of the only eyewitness to Jeffery Dahmer.

Neither Steve Toushin nor Teddy Jones is mentioned in Jeff Dahmer's "confession"

- Dr Lodl, who allegedly Jeff paid to see in 1988.

- Jeff Six - Jeff Six was a close friend of Jeff around the time the Steven Hicks incident occurred. What were his views of Jeff?

- The taxi drivers who allegedly ferried Jeff around town - Those rides would have been logged. What did they make of Jeff? The shop owner of the Fish Factory West Allis, where it is alleged Jeff was a customer, testified during the “trial”. What about the taxi drivers?
- The three doctors who prescribed Halcion to Jeff - Dr. Carl Olson and two unnamed doctors. There was also Dr. Bruce S. Hong, Rheumatology, whose prescription was conveniently missed from the testimony:

Dr Carl Olson	1	60	04/12/1990	Pharmacy in downtown Marquette area, Milwaukee
Dr Carl Olson	1	60	05/21/1990	Pharmacy in downtown Marquette area, Milwaukee

Bruce S. Hong MD Rheumatology / Internal Medicine Milwaukee , WI	1	60	06/12/1991	Not filled. *NO REFILL ('NR') noted. This prescription was not mentioned in the court testimony

- Total number of pills prescribed by Dr Olsen between 02/13/1987 – 05/21/1990 = 600
- Total number of pills prescribed by 2 unknown doctors between 09/15/1990 – 05/24/1991 = 135
- Total number of pills prescribed by 2 other doctors between 06/06/1986 – 06/12/1991 = 135 (not filled).

- Any of the alleged up to 200 “hook-ups” that were mentioned in the “trial”.
- Bathhouse manager Bradley Babush - Babush claimed that he banned Jeff Dahmer from the Club Bath Milwaukee in 1986 after serious allegations of drugging patrons. Interestingly, no investigations were ever followed up by police despite the serious nature of the allegations, including one drugged man allegedly spending up to 10 days in a hospital. Here's an archive report dated August 3, 1991, reporting this: Report: Jeffrey Dahmer kicked out of bathhouse for drugging members - UPI Archives. Some excerpts:

Bradley Babush, a former manager of Club Bath Milwaukee, said four to six patrons complained about Dahmer's actions during the summer of 1986.

Dahmer was barred from the bathhouse when paramedics had to be called because one drugged man could not be revived and spent seven to 10 days in a hospital, he said.'

- Jeff Dahmer's grandmother - Catherine Dahmer didn't testify despite the fact the narrative tells us that Jeff carried out heinous acts right under her nose for years, in her house. Jeff's grandmother would naturally have been a key witness if this had been a real case. Even if Catherine Dahmer had been unwell, people could still be interviewed if they were in the hospital, for example. She would have been eager to speak for her beloved grandson.
- Jeff Dahmer's neighbors - They also didn't call upon any of Jeff Dahmer's neighbors. Why not? The neighbors might have noticed something.

Here's a parting thought...

Why were they so quick to demolish the Oxford Apartments, but Jeff Dahmer's grandmother's house was sold as normal?

So many missing key witnesses, many closer to Jeff than the fish shop owner, for example. In a every possible witness would be called upon. Most of these key witnesses aren't even mentioned so-called 'confession'.

And the snot thickens... Everything you have posted indicates that this whole charade was a slur. Nothing about the trial makes sense. No key witnesses testified. The facts don't align with the allegations. The strange relationship with the Catholic Church... This has seriously caused me to question everything about Dahmer.

Seems there were many misalignments in the OJ trial as well.

How many other instances in our Just Us system have and will occur based upon flimsy to no evidence.

I am looking forward to seeing how this was plotted, by whom, why, and how they got away with the charade in Jeffrey's case. You know, the old who, what, when, where, and why.

Seems you are doing excellent sleuth work. Thanks for sharing it!
